1. Where can I find the nomination forms?
You can nominate here: https://mhfa.org.au/CMS/nominate-now---australian-mental-health-awards

2. Who can be nominated?
Any Australian citizen living in Australia can be nominated for an Australian Mental Health Award.

3. Who can put forward a nomination?
Any individual, community organisation, business or professional body or similar group can nominate someone or a not for profit organisation for any of our awards.

4. What are the award categories?
All information can be found here: https://mhfa.org.au/CMS/australian-mental-health-award

5. How do I prepare a nomination?
To nominate a deserving individual or an organisation delivering exceptional service, please fill in the form here: https://mhfa.org.au/CMS/nominate-now---australian-mental-health-awards. If you would like to confidentially discuss, please contact our Vice Chairperson, Mr. Jim Goodin on jim.goodin@mhfa.org.au

6. Is it necessary to provide a referee?
Yes, the name and contact details of an individual who would be in a position to comment directly on the nominee’s achievements or an organisation’s credibility should be provided. The provider of the testimonial must have suitable and relevant credentials to be able to support the nomination in that they must be recognised as an achiever in a related field of endeavour.

7. Do I need to include the written testimonial with my nomination form?
There is no need for you to ask referees to provide written comments in advance. When we are processing a nomination, we may need to put specific questions to referees to assist in our research, so it is best we contact them at that stage.

8. How are nominations assessed?
Award winners are selected from a list of nominees by the selection panel, made up of one or more of the board members of the Mental Health Foundation Australia and the Awards committee.

9. Can I nominate myself?
No, you cannot unfortunately nominate yourself.

10. Are nominators advised?
No, the nominators nor the nominees are NOT advised until a decision is being made.
